

Capital University
GOOD GUARANTEE

Uncommonly Committed to Champions of the Common Good.

Capital University guarantees half tuition for incoming undergraduates whose families have chosen mission-centered careers through nonprofit and public-service work.

You've built your career around a mission that's bigger than you. At work and in life, you choose to serve others, sometimes even at the expense of your own gain. You're a champion of the common good, and to us, that's anything but common. It's extraordinary. Simply put, a brighter world needs more champions for good. You invest in others. We'll invest in you. Together, we can guarantee more good. This is our GOOD GUARANTEE.

Capital University celebrates the commitment of those who work for nonprofit and public-service organizations that exist to advance a mission that lifts up people, communities and causes for the public good. From firefighters, law enforcement officers and those in U.S. military service to health care professionals, churches and faith-based organizations, arts and culture advocates, educators, civil servants and more, people with the brightest minds and biggest hearts often choose nonprofit work, even if it means earning less.

Choosing to do good should never be a barrier to pursuing the transformative education Capital provides. So, we have GOOD news. If you're an incoming full-time undergraduate student and you, your parents, guardians or your spouse have chosen nonprofit work, our GOOD GUARANTEE will cover half your tuition.

You have questions. We've got answers. Check out our GOOD GUARANTEE FAQ at www.capital.edu/good-guarantee.