Natural Resources Officer Cadets receive extensive law enforcement training in order to prepare for a career as a Natural Resources Officer. Cadets attend an in-resident training academy for approximately 6 months. After graduating, cadets are promoted to the Natural Resources Officer position and continue to receive additional on-the-job training. Natural Resources Officers are commissioned peace officers with primary responsibilities in the following areas:

- Law Enforcement and Public Service: As a Natural Resources Officer, you will be responsible for patrolling and enforcing laws on all waters of the state as well as state park, state forest, scenic river, and natural areas and preserve properties. Natural Resources Officers enforce laws on ODNR property to not only keep users of the natural resources safe but also to preserve Ohio's natural resources for future generations.
- Education and Public Relations: Natural Resources Officers teach the public as well as other recreational and conservation groups in formal as well as casual settings. They provide media interviews promoting an array of educational information for boating safety and natural resources conservation. The ODNR Division of Parks and Watercraft is the lead agency for Ohio maritime security and instructs other state, county and municipal agencies in maritime law enforcement.
- Emergency Response: The ODNR Division of Parks and Watercraft supports emergency operations during flooding, natural disasters, search and rescue situations, and recovery situations.
